About 'Tree Plantation Program'

Introduction:

On Sunday, 26th July 2026, the collaborating clubs jointly organized a Tree Plantation Program at Aadhinath Community Park, Chovar, Kathmandu. The service-oriented event was carried out under the theme of environmental protection and community greening, with saplings and technical support provided by Green Valley Green Nepal and the Division Forest and Seed Station Department. Members from all four organizations, along with local community volunteers, came together to plant saplings and raise awareness on the importance of afforestation.

The event reflected Rotary's continued commitment to protecting the environment through hands-on community service.

Project Summary:

Volunteers gathered early on the morning of the event at Aadhinath Community Park, Chovar, where the program began with a brief orientation on tree plantation techniques and aftercare, conducted with support from the Division Forest and Seed Station Department. Saplings sourced with the assistance of Green Valley Green Nepal were distributed among the participants, who worked in coordinated groups from the Rotary, Rotaract, Interact, and Inner Wheel clubs to dig, plant, and water the saplings across the designated area of the park. The joint effort strengthened collaboration among the four affiliated clubs and resulted in the successful plantation of saplings that will contribute to the park's green cover, improve local air quality, and serve as a lasting environmental legacy.
