About "Awareness against Dowry at streets"

Introduction:

"From Screen to Street: End of Dowry Awareness at Street" was implemented by the Interact Club of Narayani Public School on 25th and 26th September, 2026. This program was carried out as a follow up activity to their "Joutuk Antya" (End of Dowry) activity. In this activity, We provided knowledge on the ill effects of dowry and provide further chances to do a collaboratative program with Interact club of Chandpur. Spreading the message through the screen, Interactors held direct awareness sessions with the common masses. With the permission of the respective authority, awareness posters were put on public walls as well.

Summary:

The idea behind the project was to convert the message of the documentary, "Joutuk Antya" into community action. On 25th and 26th September, Interactors visited public places and had individual interaction with individuals about the ill-effects and consequences of dowry. The Interactors had conversation with individuals about how dowry creates economic burden on families, how dowry affects the dignity of individuals, how it leads to discrimination, how it affects the relationship of individuals and societies in general.

In order to make more individuals aware about the topic, Interactors put up awareness posters on appropriate public places after getting prior permission from the concerned authority. These posters served the purpose of making more people aware about the issue and made the message of the campaign more effective. This activity also offered the young Interactors to gain experience in various skills like communication skills, leadership skills, teamwork skills and public engagement skills. Most importantly, the project managed to connect the collaborative project to the Interact Club of Chandpur, Bangladesh.

Conclusion

Through their actions, they were able to effectively convey the message of "Joutuk Antya" from a documentary into the whole community. Through face-to-face interactions and posters, the Interactors were able to get people thinking about the detrimental effects of dowry. The activity proved that youths have an important role to play when it comes to dealing with societal problems through awareness and responsible behavior. In addition, the campaign boosted the spirit of cooperation among the Interact Clubs of Nepal and Bangladesh. Ultimately, the campaign proved to be a positive step towards achieving dignity and equality without the burden of dowry.
