Introduction

On Saturday, September 19, 2026, a joint debate competition titled "बहसको मञ्च DEBATE" was organized at 4:00 PM by a coalition of Interact Clubs, including GoldenGate International College, Creative Academy Kirtipur, Shree Chunadevi Secondary School, Matribhumi Baluwatar, New Road City Kathmandu, and Chelsea International Academy. The debate centered on a critical political and social topic: "समानुपातिक प्रतिनिधित्व: समावेशिताको माध्यम कि राजनीतिक पक्षपातको आधार?"

The "बहसको मञ्च DEBATE" event served as a crucial platform for youth-led intellectual engagement, demonstrating the power of structured dialogue in addressing real-world governance issues. By centering the motion on Nepal's proportional representation framework—weighing its merits as a tool for political inclusion against its vulnerability to political favoritism—the debate encouraged participants to move beyond superficial opinions and dissect complex policy structures. This initiative provided young leaders across six Interact Clubs with hands-on experience in evidence-based reasoning, critical analysis, and civil discourse, reinforcing the idea that a healthy democracy relies on an informed and articulate youth.

Beyond its academic and political relevance, the event held significant value as a collaborative milestone for the local youth community. Bringing together students from diverse educational institutions created a space for meaningful inter-club networking and cross-institutional solidarity. Working across different schools to organize and debate under a unified banner highlighted the potential of youth organizations to drive impactful conversations. Ultimately, the event stood as a testament to the role of youth forums in shaping responsible, politically aware citizens who are equipped to debate critical issues with logic, nuance, and mutual respect.

Project Summary:

The atmosphere on the call was incredibly relaxed and open since this was a friendly debate rather than a strict competition. Logged in from different places, everyone felt free to speak honestly and focus entirely on learning from one another rather than stressing over points or scoreboard rankings. Ultimately, the day was less about winning arguments and more about broadening our perspectives and building closer ties with the other clubs. We left the meeting with a deeper appreciation for how our peers think, a stronger bond with the folks from the other clubs, and a clear reminder that youth empowerment starts when we actually listen to each other. We are already looking forward to keeping this conversation going and turning our shared ideas into real action down the road.

Attendees feedback:

Itr. Roshni Kumar Mahato's feedback:

"Seeing all Interactors, youths aged 12 to 18 being so deeply aware about the constitution and the nation was indeed a great experience for me not only as an Interactor but as a part of the nation. All the participants in very short period of time prepared well, researched well and spoke entirely with confidence. Being present as an audience itself was a pleasure for me and I believe I learnt a lot. I hope to see Interactors raise voice, learn and create lasting impacts in further days too

Itr. Kabita Chapagain's feedback:

Bringing together youth from across so many Interact Clubs—like GoldenGate, Creative Academy, Shree Chunadevi, Matribhumi, New Road City, and Chelsea—didn't just widen the pool of perspectives; it really brought the room alive. Seeing members from different schools exchange ideas and build real connections made the event feel like a true community coming together.
