Project Uddan
Project No.6

Date: 5th October, 2026
Location: Nepal Asahaya BalGhar (NABG)
Specified Committee: Community Service

Area of Focus: Education and Literacy

Introduction:

Project Udaan, under the theme "Every word. Every child. A new horizon," was an educational initiative aimed at making English-learning opportunities more accessible to underprivileged children in Nepal. Recognizing that not all children had access to additional learning resources outside the classroom, the project focused on introducing a free online platform that supported independent and interactive English learning. Through this initiative, the project sought to encourage children to develop their language skills and build confidence in learning beyond their regular classroom environment.

Project Summary:

The project was implemented over a one-month period beginning on 5 September 2026. The initiative involved identifying suitable online English-learning resources for children from Kindergarten to Grade 6 and introducing them to age-appropriate activities through the selected platform. The planned activities included an orientation on how to access and use the learning resources, followed by regular engagement with exercises covering vocabulary, reading, grammar, and comprehension. Volunteers were expected to guide students, encourage participation, and identify areas where additional support was needed. The project also included evaluating students' progress through simple learning activities and gathering feedback to understand their experience. By introducing children to an accessible resource for continued learning, Project Udaan aimed to support their educational development beyond the duration of the initiative.

My School
Under the Water

If my school has in under the water there will be magic world. Insted of our leg there will be tail like fish. I mean to we became mermaid. In magic world we can magic means I have magic. My teachers teaches magic in my school. There no anymore homework in my school because we didnot need to ~~stu~~ study. That means, we didn't need need to carry such a heavy bag of book.

One day, when I am going to school with my friends I see a big octopus. In first I am shock when I see him. He started to joking to us. He was so funny. I reached my school I am feel so happy because my teacher said that in our school new teacher will come tomorrow. And I reach in my class-room. And our classteacher come and ask, what I said you yesterday? And we say, that in our schol new teacher will come today. Our teacher say, good you all remember my what I said. Now, all of you big quiet and close your eyes. And we say, why miss please tell us. Miss say that if you close your eyes then, only I will tell you. Then we close our eyes and she say, I will say 123 go then only open your eyes ok. We say ok miss. She started to say 1 2 3 go then we open our eyes. When we open our eyes we are very shocked because our new teacher was that big funny octopus. Our ~~te~~ new teacher Octopus say that I will teach you all how to chage in human. When we heard that we became very excited.

He take we outside the school. He say, Listen carefully my dearest student in a funny way. One my friends laught in a big sound. And Our new teacher mak a serious face, and we think that ~~Octpu~~ Octopus Sir became angry to us and we became afraid. But suddenly our sir started to laugh
